The game, which will be released on September 27 in North America, Europe, Australia and New Zealand, will include several other advances, such as goalkeepers doing more reflex saves and an improved agility- and pace-boosting system based on FIFA 21. FIFA 22 will also include improvements to individual aspects of the game such as player switching, the strength of shots and the ability to take more shots on goal. The following are some of the features revealed in the FIFA 22 Official Trailer: 1. Strategic AI - AI directors now anticipate the next move and will make intelligent decisions to steal the ball or to play a style that will give the team the best chance of scoring. 2. Ball Switching - Defenders will now try to flip the ball over the onrushing player and up to two new positions. Players are also now susceptible to being flipped over if tackled or pressed. 3. Player Switching - Players can now switch positions with a tap of the left stick. Players can also receive a pass with their back to the opponent. Players can also time their switch to receive a pass from another player. 4. The Matrix - Players can now make multiple dives to evade an opponent, unlike FIFA 19, which allowed players to do so for only one. 5. The Outlaws - Players will run with a more natural running speed when sprinting forward, forward when sprinting backward and backward when sprinting backward. 6. Various Heights - Players will now run slower at speed six, making them more vulnerable to being caught and held up. 7. Reflectors - Players will now reflect the ball more naturally by leaning away from the ball. Players will also have different physical abilities, such as the ability to head the ball or bouncing the ball a different number of times after heading it. 8. Increased Vision - Players can now see beyond the player closest to them as well as behind them. Players can also predict the attack and intercept pass more accurately. 9. Possession - Players can now carry the ball more naturally. They can also be encouraged to throw it up high and volleys it in the air. 10. Understanding The Game - Players will now understand when it is best to pass the ball and when it is best to shoot the ball. 11. Speed - The speed of artificial intelligence has been increased to respond more rapidly to the game
